

Eurgent has the solution

Eurgent Ecspress has been supplying Europe's leading forwarders and transporters with cost-effective solutions for the movement of time-critical consignments for more than 15 years.

Over 95% of its clients are from within the freight industry and Eurgent's network of partners offers assistance to make every consignment a top priority.

Established in 1996, Eurgent Ecspress has a proven track record for performance and reliability as an express freight forwarder within the time-critical logistics environment.

Eurgent's core business covers the time-sensitive sector of the logistics sphere and carries a wide range of consignments for all areas of industry, providing road and air options dependant on the transit time requested.

MD Dave Price said: "Our comprehensive network allows us to consider all cross-European destinations.

"We are also a preferred supplier to many multinational companies in the UK and European community, where we have built an excellent reputation for client confidentiality, and since 2003 have built a very successful partnership with Air Menzies, the multinational air freight wholesaler.

"As a truly independent company, we can assist couriers with enquiries that they cannot service, thereby eliminating the opportunity for competitors to gain access to their client base."

Eurgent has invested heavily on upgrading all communications and

IT equipment to enable the company to become more efficient and help provide a more competitive edge within the marketplace.

The operational team have over 90 years' experience in all aspects of express freight forwarding throughout the UK and Europe, which gives a distinct advantage in solving the many problems that can arise in today's turbulent logistics market.

Commenting on green issues, Price said: "We are increasingly aware of the impact the transport industry has on the environment.

"Eurgent feels it is assisting in this by reducing the number of empty vehicles miles travelled – estimated to be 70 million miles a year, Europe-wide – by reloading many of the couriers that have delivered exports.

"Both in the UK and throughout Europe, we are helping to reduce their carbon foot print.

"Eurgent successfully negotiated the recession without loss of personnel, and with our recently acquired new premises, we feel we have an excellent platform for the company's next level of development."
